

MIND AND SIGHT

Restored to J. R. Pollard in a Most Remarkable Manner.

Lost Both and was Blind and Without Mental Faculties for two Months.

Mr. J. B. Pollard, of Henderson, has recently passed through an experience that is one of the most remarkable in the history of man says the Owensboro Inquirer. He is fifty eight years of age, and has always been a strong and healthy man. Two months ago he was suddenly stricken with total blindness and the entire loss of his mind. He knew nobody and paid no attention to anything that went on around him. It was necessary to watch him constantly, and there was little hope that he would ever recover either his sight or the use of his mental faculties. The distress of his family was acute and finally the awful alternative of sending him away to an institution for treatment presented itself. While this was being discussed there came a sign one day about two weeks ago that his mind was being restored.

The manifestation was hailed with joy, as day after day, sometimes almost hourly a change for the better was noticed. Then his eyesight began to come back. In a few days his mind was as clear and strong as it ever was, but the improvement in his eyesight has been more slow. Wednesday he wrote a long letter to his wife, and he can distinguish objects clearly, though he is not yet able to read print. His physicians think, however, that he will soon be able to do so, and some of them express a belief in the probability that he will not have to use glasses.

Mr. Pollard says that he could not control his mind during his illness it was not altogether lost. He could remember nothing that had ever taken place and could not recognize those about him being, in fact, most of the time ignorant of their presence, "but," he says, "I was having the best time that ever I had in my life. I cannot describe the things that I saw, they were so wonderful but it was all pleasure and enjoyment."

Dying of Famine

is, in its torments, like dying of consumption. The progress of consumption, from the beginning to the very end, is a long torture, both to victim and friends. "When I had consumption in its first stage," writes Wm. Myers, of Cearfoss, Md., "after trying different medicines and a good doctor, in vain, I at last took Dr. Kings New Discovery, which quickly and perfectly cured me." Prompt relief and sure cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, etc. Positively prevents pneumonia. Guaranteed at Z. Wayne Griffin & Bros. drug store, price 50c and $1.00 a bottle. Trial bottle free.

Lesson in Promptitude.

A Philadelphia lawyer was one day discoursing upon the importance of impressing upon the young mind the necessity for cultivating the virtue of regularity and precision.

"Early in life," said he, "I had the lesson imparted to me by my tutor. He was a Frenchman by birth. I can never forget the earnestness with which he used to descend upon the subject. 'For punctuality, young sir,' he would say, 'permit me to commend to you the example of the sun, which rises exactly at break of day, never before, never after.'"

Weddings and Funerals.

There is mighty little difference between a wedding and a funeral. At a wedding the relations walk slowly down the aisle, followed by the bridal couple and a string of attendants. At a funeral the relations enter the church slowly, followed by the coffin and pallbearers. At a wedding the real relations of the bride sit on one side of the church, and the in-law relations sit on the other. The kin of the remains take opposite sides of the church at a funeral. The organ rolls out the same deep music and the odor of flowers is as heavy at a wedding as at a funeral. After the church services are over the bridal couple and attendants leave the church first, followed by the relatives, and at a funeral the coffin and pallbearers are given precedence of the relatives in leaving the church. The same hacks stand at the door, and the processions in both cases pass slowly out of sight. After everything is over the relatives get together and talk things over very much the same in both instances. There are some tears, some criticisms, some complaints about blunders and the incidents are closed.

Kentucky is All Right.

Kentucky has 9,500 manufacturing enterprises with a capital of $154,166,345, showing no increase in number during the past year of 1,615 with an increase in capital of $27,446,508.

Kentucky has 234,667 farms, valued at $471,045,556, an increase during the past decade of 55,403 with an added valuation of $42,975,899.

Kentucky received for spending money last year not taking into account money received in salaries wages interest on moneys loaned, or dividends on stocks and sales of real estate the sum of $268,502,092, while the farmers of Kentucky received from sales of two crops alone—corn and tobacco—the princely sum of $50,000,000 in round numbers.

Kentucky stands in relation to the other States of the South fourth in population, third in manufacturing, third in percentage of farms improved, third in homes owned by her people, third in school population, second schools and third in value of farm property, while she is tenth in area of territory. There is nothing the matter with Kentucky. She is fully in line with the other States of the south these have been shown to be abreast of all the rest of the country.

Beauty of the Woods.

It is impossible to realize what may be done with our commonest wild shrubs, trees and plants until one sees them in a well-arranged ground grouped and massed and singly. There may be seen within a radius of forty miles of Chicago some of the most beautiful homes and home grounds to be found on the continent. These owe much of their beauty to the use of native trees and shrubs. A clump of alders never lacks interest from the time the crimson shows in the spring on through their snowy crown and ripening fruit until they stand in matchless gray amid the winter snows. Not only alders but sumach papaw and even the wild fruits are transplanted along with the thorn apple crab apple and buckeye among the smaller trees. One can not but wonder why such beauty is not made use of more frequently since it is within reach of nearly every one.

Velocity of Meteorites.

It is no wonder that stones which fall from the region of space are fired by the impact when they strike our atmosphere. Astronomers estimate that they fall with a velocity of least 65,000 yards per second. This extraordinary speed is best understood by comparing it with a ball from a modern cannon, which never travels with a speed greater than 600 yards per second.

FOX HOUND CROWS.

Before Giving Vent to a "Crow" Dog Stretches Himself On His Back.

Dogs have been trained to do very marvelous things in various ways, but the most remarkable trick ever done by a dog is on its own initiative without any sort of training. And he is a Drivess county dog, the property of Mr. Raley, of Gatewood this county says the Owensboro Messenger.

The dog crows like a rooster. It is not a case of his accidentally having made a noise that sounded something like the crow of a cock. He has done it hundreds of times and does it deliberately. Before giving vent to a "crow" the dog stretches himself on his back. And the dog knows what he is doing too because when the roosters crow at midnight or at the break of day, the dog gets in the contest taking his turn with the other's.

Mr. Raley has one rooster for which the dog appears to have a special affinity. When that rooster crows the dog is sure to follow suit. When in the nature of things the rooster is expected to crow, but for unknown reason fails to do so, the some dog starts the game by crowing and long and the rooster loud answers.

The crowing dog is an ordinary fox hound, but he is worthies for all purposes for which he was bred. In fact, Mr. Raley has never found any thing except crowing for which he is well adapted.

Perhaps the explanation of this freak of nature may be found in the name. The pup, having attained a namable age about the time Alton B. Parker was nominated for the presidency, was named "Parker," in honor of the champion of the rooster ticket. The crowing over Parker failed to materialize, but the pup was named at a time when the Democrats were expecting a mighty crowing, and it may have had some effect on him.

Training Heifers.

A calf should be trained from birth gradually in the way it should go by a constant progressive course of kind considerate treatment. A heifer calf should be weaned at its birth to obliterate proclivities before they grow into habits. The calf should not be permitted to suck the dam, but be taught to drink from a pail. It should be handled and brushed quite frequently. It will soon become used to it and make no resistance, rather like it. As it grows older the udder and teats should be rubbed and pulled gently as if milking. This not only makes it docile, but aids in the development of the udder and increases its future capacity. A heifer may be brought to milk in this way before she has had a calf, an instance of this lacteal precocity is not infrequently seen in dairies when calves are allowed to suck each other. When the well educated heifer has a calf it is already trained and breaking with the discipline of a club, a boot or a milking stool will not be necessary.

Why She Looks Sad.

Don't imagine that every sad-eyed woman you meet has loved and lost. It's more likely that she loved and got him.

Beveridge's Turkey Story.

Senator Beveridge desired to illustrate strongly the force of habit.

"In Sullivan, where I spent my boyhood," he said, there was a physician whom everybody liked; a hard-working, modest, absent-minded man.

"This physician was the guest of honor one Thanksgiving at the house of a leading citizen, and when the gay assemblage entered the dining room the leading citizen said to him: 'Now, doctor, on account of your surgical skill, I'll ask you to carve. That bird is a twenty-four pounder, and yet he is as young and tender as a spring pullet. None but you could do justice to him.'"

"The physician, his mind on other things, smiled absently, took the head of the table, raised the knife, and made a deep incision in the turkey.

"Then he frowned, rummaged in his pocket, and brought out some absorbent cotton, a roll of bandages and a paper or pins. With these he proceeded to dress and bind up the wound he had made.

"The guests were stricken dumb. They looked on in utter amazement. The doctor inserted the last pin and patted the neat dressing he had made. Then he looked up and smiled.

"And now," he said, 'let us hope that in a week, with rest and care, our patient will be on his feet again.'"

D., 1905, at two p. m., at which time the said creditors may attend, prove their claims, appoint a trustee, examine the bankrupt, and transact such other business as may properly come before said meeting. December 1, 1905. J. A. DEAN, Referee in Bankruptcy.

Too Highly Thought Of.

One of the faculty of a university in New Jersey tells of a professor there who never lost an opportunity to rebuke any bumptiousness on the part of the students. On one occasion when the professor was taking leave of a certain graduate he is reported to have said:

"Sir, your fellow-students think highly of you; I think highly of you; but, sir, no one thinks more highly of you than you do yourself."

Dog Legislation.

Boyle county farmers have taken up the question of sheep-killing dogs and will ask the Legislature to enact a law that will probably give some relief. A bill has not been drafted, but the main points to be asked of the Legislature in a law requiring each owner of a dog to pay a specified tax with each county as a unit. The money is to be held by the county treasurer and disbursed by him to the farmers who suffer losses from dogs. The fund thus acquired is to be known as sheep-killing dog fund. The tax upon each dog will likely be placed at something like $5 and in course of a few years a sufficient sum ought to be gathered to meet all emergencies or on the other hand there will occur a big slaughter of canines.

Don't be a Kicker.

Don't be a kicker—no man ever made a dollar kicking but a professional ball player. No man ever held himself up permanently by kicking his neighbor down. It won't cost you a penny, and remember you may want a good word some day. You may have thousands to-day and to-morrow be without the price of a share. Don't be a kicker. It doesn't pay. You can't afford it. There is nothing in it. If you want to throw something at somebody, throw cologne, and don't throw mud and brick bats. If you feel that way you are the man that needs kicking. Whatever you do don't allow yourself to become a chronic kicker.

Anima I Feed For Hens.

With the passing of summer all kinds of bugs, worms and insects have disappeared, and as a substitute we must supply some kind of animal food.

Cut green bone nearer possessing all the required elements for the production of eggs, than any other food and since it can be had at a low price, it is well for those who kept hens to consider it.

A bone mill will pay for itself in a short time in the increased number of eggs laid.

Many butchers will give you the bones from their shops, and even when they sell them the cost is slight.

An ounce every other day should be given each hen, and a proportionate weight of other food allowed on those days. Use only fresh bones, as tainted meat often causes disease to get a start.

Locomotives Catch Quail.

Engineers who run through the western part of Oklahoma tell some great stories about the way in which quail are killed by coming in contact with their engines, and claim to have a bunch of them on the pilot at the end of every run.

One Choctaw fireman has evolved a scheme to fix up a net on the front of his locomotive and catch the birds as they come against it. He avers that hundreds can be caught in that way every day.
